

If the Sun Were a Horse

by Rabbi David Zaslow

If the sun were a horse
instead of riding horses
I'd ride the sun.
Instead of saddling a horse
I'd saddle the sun.
Instead of wearing sunglasses
I'd be wearing horseglasses.
All this would be true
if the sun were a horse.

Instead of getting sunburned
I'd be getting horseburned.
Instead of sunrise
there'd be horserise
Instead of sunset
there'd be horset.
Instead of a herd of horses
there'd be a herd of suns.
Instead of horseshoes
there'd be sunshoes.
All this would be true
if the sun were a horse.

Instead of horse stables
there'd be sun stables.
Instead of sunlight
there'd be horselight.
Instead of sunny days
there'd be horsey days.
All this would be true
if the sun were a horse.
