

Sky Hockey

by Rabbi David Zaslow

The Southern Stars
are skating on the ice of night, playing hockey with the puck of the moon tonight.
They're playing the Northern Stars.
Autumn is rooting for the South while winter gives odds on the North to win.
In the fourth period of night the North is winning 6 to 4, and this game is almost over until tomorrow's game in this year's season.
It seems like winter
is going to win again.
